Hawaii Medical College Launches New Website

(Honolulu, Hawaii) June 21, 2017 – Hawaii Medical College recently launched a completely redesigned website, www.hmi.edu, to improve the experience for current and prospective students. The college is celebrating its 10th anniversary throughout the year and the new website is just one of many initiatives being undertaken.

“Hawaii Medical College has had the honor of training Hawaii’s future allied healthcare professionals for over a decade,” said Ashton Cudjoe, President of Hawaii Medical College. “As we provide our community with quality healthcare training, we’re always looking to improve our institution and the services we offer. The new website provides a wealth of information and is a great resource for our current and future students.”

The website contains information on programs, like the two new Associates in Applied Science degrees in Clinical Medical Assistant and Healthcare Administration, Billing and Coding. There’s also information on financial aid, scholarships, gainful employment and more. Current students can access the student portal through the site and get information on tutoring, academic organizations and career services.
